

The University of Arizona makes the largest glass mirrors in the world, large enough for this major collimator project recently completed for Kaman Aerospace.

COLLIMATOR PROJECT

The support structures designed by Kaman Aerospace for these fragile mirrors are very complex and have very demanding tolerances. CAID Industries was contracted for fabricating, load testing, stress relieving, machining, and painting all components of this support system.

